Paraskevidekatriaphobia

It's for real. Do you have it? It's the fear of Friday, the 13th. Ridiculous, you say? It's just another day, you say?

Well try telling that to those poor Crystal Lake summer camp counselors terrorized by Jason Voorhees. Or the Knights Templar, the medieval army of warrior monks whose order was abolished on that day. Or even to the people who did a study in the United Kingdom that noticed the incidence of being submitted to the hospital is 52% greater on this Friday the 13th than any other "normal" Friday.

Who's laughing now???

But not all 13's are bad, right? Sean Venedam, for example, is the only Condor to wear #13. Dan Marino and Wilt Chamberlain wore it too, although not for the Condors. And then again, not all Fridays are bad either, such as Sgt. Joe Friday from Dragnet. Now HE was a swell guy, a real trustworthy fellow.

But so many terrible and tragic things* have happened on this day, and you think it might be coincidence. You think this is just a funny day and a clever marketing excuse for PlayStation to release Resident Evil 5. Well, consider these eerie coincidences:

- The first shot fired on the battlefield of Gettysburg
- The Titanic was formally introduced to the public and proclaimed to be 'unsinkable'
- The assassination of Archduke Ferdinand of Austria, which sparked the First World War
- The Hindenberg zeppelin combusted and plunged to its horrible demise
- The Edmonton Oilers trade Wayne Gretzky to the Los Angeles Kings
- The Kobe Earthquake in Japan in 1995, registering a 6.8 on the Richter scale, killing over 6,400 people
- The cancellation of Cheers

Perhaps it's time to take this fear quite seriously, and give it its due place among the great phobias of our time, such as hippopotomonstrosesquippedaliophobia (fear of long words) or arachibutyrophobia (fear of peanut butter sticking to the roof of the mouth). Let us stop taking this so lightly!

It's supposed to be a bad luck day for travel, too, so TAKE NOTE, ONTARIO! Only time will tell if the Reign's performance tonight will just become another side note under the "Friday the 13th" page on Wikipedia.

Beware, and rejoice, paraskevidekatriaphobiacs. For this is your day... and actually March 13th, too. That's a Friday as well. Fun stuff!

5th Annual Condors Fighting Cancer

Hockey-Thon

February 20th - 22nd

The Hockey-Thon is comprised of a 41-hour hockey marathon for participants of all ages and skill levels, includes two Condors games and highlighted with a first-ever Condors Alumni vs. West Coast All-Star Alumni Game, in which the former Condors will be wearing specially-designed pink breast cancer awareness jerseys that will be auctioned off following their game.

Participants can sign up by following the link on the right side of the Condors home page.

- Each participant must raise a minimum of $250 in pledges in order to play.
- The top three pledge collectors will split 20 lower level tickets to an LA Kings game.
- Also, the first 200 people to sign-up will receive a free 5th Annual Fighting Cancer Hockey-Thon jersey.

All participants will receive two Condors tickets to each of the games on Saturday, Feb. 21 (noon) and Sunday, Feb. 22 (2 p.m).

To date, the Hockey-Thon has raised more than $162,000 for Links for Life, a local breast cancer resource center.

For more information call the Condors front office at 324-PUCK (7825) or
